[The Post]office Appropriation Bill Passes the Senate.

[illegible] SUPPRESSED BY THE CHAIR.

[illegible] Tariff Measure Takes a Back Seat—A [illegible] Gossip about Fremont—Congressional Notes.

Washington Notes

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The senate has confirmed [illegible] Clark H. Wells of Pennsylvania as rear admiral of the navy.

An order has been issued from the headquarters of the army directing the First and Second regiments [illegible] to exchange stations.

Nominations—William H. Sears of California collector of customs for the district of San Francisco; [illegible] M. Johnson, postmaster at Tulare, California.

[illegible] Walsh has written a letter to the president, [illegible] willingness to turn over to the government [illegible] documents in his possession relating to the [illegible] cases providing he will not be required to [illegible] personally in the prosecution. The matter [illegible] referred to the attorney general.

Will Appeal

WASHINGTON, April 18.—At the request of the secretary of the interior, the commissioner of patents [illegible] appealed from the decision of the supreme court of the district, in the case of Hoe vs. Scott to the supreme court of the United States. The point of [illegible] is the ruling that there is no appeal to [illegible] secretary of the interior after the commissioner [illegible] a patent case.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 18.

[illegible] from the committee on library, reported [illegible] the bill establishing a newspaper copy[illegible] [illegible] however, placed on the calendar [illegible] same committee, adversely, a joint [illegible] providing for the erection of a bronze [illegible] statue to Simon Bolivar. Indefinitely [illegible].

The senate then took up the postoffice appropriation bill.

[illegible] as the bill left the house it had appropriated $44,835,000. The senate committee had [illegible], making the appropriation at present [illegible]. As the bill now stood, after the [illegible] by the senate committee, Plumb said it was [illegible] that outside the necessities of the [illegible]. The committee desired more efficient [illegible]. The committee had not made the appropriation [illegible] in all cases as the members [illegible] entirely desirable, and not as large as [illegible] by the postoffice department [illegible] entitled to good postal service he [illegible] paid for it.

Consideration of the bill was proceeded with by [illegible] reaching the section relating to transportation [illegible] a debate arose. The bill, as it [illegible] from the house, required the postmaster general [illegible] a reduction of 5 per cent in compensation [illegible] paid all railroads for carrying mails [illegible] that receive land grants should be [illegible] carry mails at rates 50 per cent less [illegible] paid other railroads for like service. [illegible] explained that the committee on appropriations [illegible] justified in retaining these provisions [illegible] the 5 per cent reduction was con[illegible] members of the committee after some [illegible] were not entirely satisfied that the [illegible] paid railroads was greater than it [illegible]. The government required the companies [illegible] the mails, and were paying less for service [illegible] express companies paid. Every per[illegible] examined the subject had become sat[illegible] the present rates paid railroads were [illegible] the government did not pay the [illegible] the services rendered by them [illegible] the committee, therefore, in the [illegible] be dealt with by some [illegible] measure. After a very [illegible] consideration and discussion [illegible] its requirement that land grant roads [illegible] for 50 per cent less than other [illegible] the senate committee had not [illegible] the provision one that should be [illegible] these roads had received aids of [illegible] than others, and larger grants [illegible] were, under the law carrying mails [illegible] less than other roads. The only [illegible] government to these roads [illegible] and doubtless before another [illegible] assemble the courts would render [illegible] acts bearing on that relation [illegible] bill being in process of enactment [illegible] an appropriation bill [illegible] a subject, and dealing with [illegible] fashion which would be necessary [illegible] be dealt with in the appropriation [illegible] was lacking with reference to the [illegible] of railroads to the government, or [illegible] the rates they were charging [illegible] or individuals, that and just [illegible] the importance deserved, not in [illegible] was an open committee of [illegible] subject of railroads in charge, in [illegible] the elements in so very intricate [illegible] kept in view. For these reasons [illegible] on appropriations had agreed [illegible] bill the provisions referred to [illegible] regret that the clause in [illegible] not been retained. He believed the [illegible] too high a rate and said the [illegible] subject submitted from the committee [illegible] of $500,000 [illegible] whether [illegible] were not paid extra for speed [illegible] that there had been a gain [illegible] between New York and [illegible] increased speed, without extra [illegible].

[illegible] Saulsbury, said one reason [illegible] committee for the adoption [illegible] the senator from Delaware [illegible] would increase instead of diminish [illegible] of certain roads. The claim of [illegible] was that the compensation [illegible] was insufficient, and the amendment [illegible] would increase it. The loss would [illegible]. Allison also opposed a horizontal [illegible] 5 per cent, because it would strike [illegible] least bear a reduction [illegible] from the committee on postoffices [illegible] had reported the amendment reducing [illegible] it had been thought it would make a reduction of $1,000,000, but the committee had later [illegible] came to doubt its anticipations in [illegible] they wanted further time to investigate.

[illegible] the amendment was agreed [illegible] the house provisions which would [illegible] the compensation of railroads by 5 per cent [illegible] the compensation of land grant [illegible] 50 per cent of the amount paid other roads [illegible] amendments proposed by the committee [illegible] the only departure being in the adoption [illegible] amendment proposed by Plumb, adding [illegible] the appropriation for the river mail [illegible].

[illegible] was then agreed to as a whole.

[illegible] bill was then taken up but without [illegible] consideration the senate went into [illegible].

[illegible] doors were reopened a message from the [illegible] announcing the death of the late Representative [illegible], was laid before the senate, and [illegible] memory of deceased were delivered by [illegible] of Florida and Pugh [illegible] Monday.

WASHINGTON, April 18.

[illegible] of McMillan the bill limiting to two [illegible] within which prosecutions may be [illegible] against persons charged with violating [illegible] revenue laws was taken up for consideration.

Thereupon the [illegible] and said only that that the court [illegible] proposed to investigate his (White's) [illegible].

The house [illegible] not permit members to abuse this [illegible].

[illegible] proceeded in order and at the conclusion [illegible] the bill was passed [illegible] committee of the whole (Cox [illegible]) on the private calendar [illegible] the house passed twenty [illegible]. The house then adjourned.

POLITICAL CHIT-CHAT.

THE TARIFF BILL.

[illegible] April 18.—[Special.]—The tariff bill [illegible] to the house this morning and the [illegible] that it shall, but we [illegible] next week. To-morrow a private [illegible] Hopkins hopes to be able [illegible] a bureau of labor statistics [illegible] who are more largely interested in [illegible] of legislation pending [illegible] the bill, are fearful that a [illegible] which must be passed before [illegible] Morrison told Randall that [illegible] general debate on the tariff [illegible] means committee now are talking of wanting two weeks before discussion under the five minute rule is in order. There are nearly 100 applications on the speaker's desk for members to be recognized to make speeches on the bill. There is a great deal of private discussion among members of the ways and means committee as to when amendments shall be permitted to be made to the bill. The programme of the protectionists is to move to strike out the enacting clause, as soon as the motion can be made under the rules and before an opportunity for debate is offered. Democratic members consider that the bill will be beaten if a vote upon such a motion should be taken immediately, but they expect before the general debate is finished, to have an understanding with a sufficient number of their friends about amendments to be adopted that will give them a solid majority in favor of the ultimate passage of the bill.

THE NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL

WASHINGTON, April 18.—[Special.]—The house committee on appropriations are expected to consider senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill to-morrow. It is stated there is no possibility of the committee agreeing to the amendments. The appropriation of $4,000,000 for the construction of new cruisers, and the total increase to $1,528,380 is spoken of by the house committee as preposterous, and the fight between the two houses will be long and bitter. The senate is determined to insist upon its proposed increase and in this it will be supported by the public [illegible] in the house, but there is not the least chance of Randall's committee acceding to their demands. A majority of the house will stand by the action of their committee, and there is no probability of a compromise. There will be a joint conference committee to try to adjust the matter, but conferences can result in nothing but a prolonged dead lock. Randall certainly will not yield, and the bill will go through practically as passed by the house or not at all. The majority of the house is not very friendly to the present naval system. There are deeply rooted suspicions of fraud in the proposed increase of the appropriation for the steel cruisers and there is no telling what a prolonged dead-lock may result in.

A BIT OF GOSSIP ABOUT FREMONT

WASHINGTON, April 18.—[Special.]—The introduction of a bill placing General John C. Fremont on the retired list of the army has caused some gossip concerning the "pathfinder," and it is said the military committees of both houses will hear an investigation of ancient scandals connecting Fremont's name with the Memphis and El Paso railroad. These scandals are to the effect that when Louis Napoleon was emperor of France Memphis and El Paso bonds were sold on the Paris bourse under the false representation that they had been guaranteed by the United States government. Among others who were concerned in the fraudulent advertising and selling of these bonds was a brother-in-law of Fremont's, who was subsequently arrested in France and convicted. Suspicion also pointed to General Fremont and those familiar with the case here say warrants of arrest are still out for him in Paris and if he should ever visit that country he would be brought up on a charge of complicity in the bond swindle.

FOR THE REGISTRATION OF CERTAIN STEAMSHIPS

WASHINGTON, April 18.—[Special.]—James of New York has introduced in the house a bill to authorize the registration of certain steamships as vessels of the United States. It recites that Henry Graves of New Jersey, Austin Corbin, J. Rogers Maxwell, David C. Corbin, Henry W. Maxwell and William G. Wheeler of New York, and James B. Campbell of Iowa, have organized, or are about to organize an American express and steamship company with a capital of $10,000,000 for the purpose of constructing, purchasing and owning a fleet of first class passenger steamships, to be navigated between New York, or some port on Long Island in New York, and a suitable port or ports in Great Britain. The measure provides that all vessels owned by the steamship company when duly organized, and all vessels hereafter acquired shall be entitled to be registered as vessels of the United States, and to the benefits of registry whether built in the United States or not.

THE DELEGATES HARD AT WORK

WASHINGTON, April 18.—[Special.]—For several days the territorial delegates have been at work on Randall and Carlisle to procure a day on which to consider territorial business not reported from the committee on territories. Randall has agreed on behalf of the committee on rules, to allow May 1 to be set apart for the purpose, and it is expected that most of the important business of the territories can then be passed through the house. The first bill that will come up is the measure separating the [illegible] Creek coal fields in Arizona from the White Mountain Indian reservation. The purpose is to open up these mammoth coal beds by allowing the [illegible] to sell or lease them. This operation, by furnishing a supply of coal for Arizona mill owners will reduce the price from $60 per ton as at present to $10. This it is calculated, will aid Arizona mineral mills [illegible] and operating many mines now lying idle because the product will not pay for working.

TO REGULATE MARRIAGES IN UTAH

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The house committee on territories by a vote of seven to five adopted a substitute offered by Alexander for Cassidy's bill providing for the appointment by the president of a commission for Utah. A provision is included in it as to marriages, providing that a certificate of marriage shall be signed by a minister, judge, or a justice of the peace and the person so officiating shall file a certificate [illegible] before the county recorder within thirty days after the ceremony. Failure to file a record is punishable by a fine of $500. The substitute makes solemnization of marriage when either party to be married has a husband or wife living, a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment in jail for not less than six months nor more than twelve.

IN FAVOR OF THE CONTRACT SYSTEM

WASHINGTON, April 18.—On motion of Representative Ward the house committee on post offices and post roads, by a vote of ten to one adopted a resolution declaring it the sense of the committee that it is expedient to adopt a contract system of postal telegraph. The yeas were Money, Ward, [illegible], Rogers, Jones of Texas, [illegible], Peelle of Indiana, Skinner of New York, White of Kentucky and Wakefield. Caine, delegate from Utah, also favored the resolution, although he had no vote. [illegible] Messrs. Riggs, Taylor of Tennessee, Paige and McCormick were present. The subject will be further discussed by the committee at the next meeting.

OPPOSED TO A POSTAL TELEGRAPH

WASHINGTON, April 18.—[Special.]—Ermentrout of Pennsylvania to-day presented to the house resolutions adopted by the southern press association at its last annual meeting counselling congress not to pass the postal telegraph bill. The resolutions state that the proposition to establish a postal telegraph is centralization in its worst form. It will place the government in competition with private capital and by creating a grand army of government employes establish political power that in the end nothing but a revolution could overthrow. The resolutions were referred to the committee on post offices and post roads.

FAVORABLE REPORT AUTHORIZED

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The house committee on public lands instructed Representative Payson favorably to report his bill to prevent the unlawful occupancy of public lands. The measure provides that all inclosures of public land in any state or territory by parties who have no title, shall be unlawful. It further provides that it shall be lawful for any person to demolish any of such inclosures when it incloses more than 640 acres of land for any agricultural land.

THE CHINESE BILL.

Morrison, Piqued at the Action of the Coast Delegation, Checkmates Its Moves.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—[Special.]—In the house Wednesday morning Representative Curtin of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs offered a resolution fixing April 30 as the day for considering business exclusively reported from that committee. Curtin did not state the object of his resolution but it was well known to members on both sides of the chamber that it was designed to enable the committee to take up the Pacific delegation's Chinese bill. To the surprise of every body Mr. Morrison objected. As consideration of the resolution required unanimous consent of the house this sent it back to its author. Curtin went to Morrison's seat and informed him that the object of the resolution was to enable the committee to take up the Pacific coast delegation Chinese bill. Morrison replied that he should object to consideration of any business that could in any way interfere with the discussion and further interference with the Chinese bill it would have to take its turn after the tariff bill was out of the way. True to his word, Morrison objected to consideration of other resolutions offered by members, and on his motion the morning hour was dispensed with, and the house went into committee of the whole on the tariff.

MORRISON STUBBORN

Budd afterward went to Morrison and informed him that Curtin was not responsible wholly for the resolution but that the Pacific coast members intended by this means to get their Chinese bill before the house. As Budd was about to explain the importance of the Chinese bill to Morrison, Morrison impatiently said the tariff was of importance also, and the Chinese bill would have to take its chance with other legislation.

Morrison has informed Randall that he wants about one week for general debate and it is understood he intends to object to consideration of all business by the house until the bill is disposed of. Under the rules the tariff takes precedence of all matters except appropriations.

Lamb of Indiana intends on Monday next, when the committees are called, to move to suspend the rules and to adopt a resolution fixing a day early in May for consideration of the Chinese bill. If Morrison carries out his intention the committees will not be called Monday and Lamb's motion will necessarily be postponed a month or until the third Monday in May. In the meantime there will be no way to get the measure before the house. It is stated that Morrison now feels somewhat sore over the action of California members in voting against consideration of the tariff and until this wears off he will not take any pains to accommodate them. Ultimately his friends say, his temper will become more placid. If the regular order is observed Monday Lamb will endeavor to get the bill up.

THE PRIZE RING.

A CONTEST STOPPED BY THE POLICE.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 18.—A glove fight took place to-day, [illegible] between Henry Johnson of New York and Charles Lange of Cleveland, backed by Duncan C. Ross. Black Diamond seconded Johnson, and [illegible] Thompson [illegible] 300 people witnessed the [illegible]. The Carrying of Arms Prohibited

AUSTIN, Tex., April 17.—Governor Ireland to-day issued a proclamation, revoking the proclamation issued by the governor of Texas in 1881 exempting certain frontier counties liable to incursions by hostile Indians from the provisions of the articles of the penal code of the state of Texas relating to the unlawful carrying of arms. He says: "Whereas there is no longer any danger of hostile incursions on the border there is no necessity for the carrying of six shooters or other prohibited weapons. I earnestly entreat all law abiding citizens throughout the state to aid the officers in the execution of the law. State troops and commanding officers are ordered to enforce the law in all instances coming to their knowledge in any legal shape."

Snow and Rock Slides

DENVER, April 18.—Since the snow began to melt in the mountains snow and rock slides of greater or less magnitude are of almost daily occurrence. Early this morning a large boulder fell on a bridge across the Gunnison near the mouth of the Cimarron and smashed it down. In addition to this there were half a dozen small slides to-day between Curecanti and a point three miles this side, in Black Canyon. The regular west bound passenger train went as far as the first of these slides and was waiting for workmen to clear the track when another slide came down striking the engine, turning it over and instantly killing engineer Arthur Dratt and slightly injuring fireman Frank Martiner.

Excited over a New Gold Camp

DENVER, April 18.—Mining towns are excited over alleged important gold discoveries in the vicinity of Pike's peak, seventy-five miles southwest of Denver. Crowds of people from neighboring towns are flocking to the new camp. Passenger and freight transportation lines from Canyon City, Fairplay and Leadville are already established and grocery and outfitting stocks are en route. It is impossible at this time to obtain reliable information concerning the importance of the discovery. Mineral said to be carbonate samples of lava nearly 100 ounces of gold. Amidst the excitement Denver mining men are unmoved, and will await developments.

Floods in Maine and New Hampshire

NEW YORK, April 18.—Reports of heavy rains and floods continue to come in from Maine and New Hampshire. High water has caused a suspension of work in many mills and is threatening bridges and dams. At Milltown, Maine the water has risen a foot since yesterday and it is feared the logs will break loose and in that event cause great damage to property. At Laconia, N. H., Lake Winnipesaukee is rising an inch an hour. The dam has started to move. If it breaks many houses will be carried down the river.

A Firmer Tone the Rule in Yesterday's Market—Quotations

NEW YORK, April 18.—Governments were lower for 3's. Railways generally lower. Advices from the stock market in the forenoon confirmed the belief of yesterday that it was time for a reaction from the extreme depression of last week. The tone of stocks this morning was noticeable as the effect of yesterday's [illegible] to restrict the output of coal by the [illegible] nine days in May and [illegible] necessary nine days in June. The reduction in rates of sterling exchange and the probable decrease in exports of gold next week also had a favorable effect on the market. The decline in stocks was accompanied by a report of the serious illness of D. O. Mills, a large holder of Erie securities. The market closed strong and for the majority of active stocks at the highest price of the day. The result of the day's trading showed a firmer market for twenty seven stocks out of forty.

Union Pacific was firmer in view of the prospect of settlement of difficulties with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. RAILROAD NOTES

THE SUNSET ROUTE LOSING ITS PRESTIGE

NEW YORK, April 18.—[Special.]—Your reporter called on Agent Hawley of the Sunset route this morning to ascertain the actual condition of the line and the truth of the reports that the washouts had driven away shippers. He said the Sunset route is now in working condition throughout. It had a washout last week but it was repaired last Sunday. Our tonnage is now [illegible].

From various sources, however, your reporter learned that confidence in the Sunset route which was formerly the most popular of the fast freight lines [illegible] was diminishing. It was learned that San Francisco houses advised shippers here not to send on tonnage until it was certain it would get through [illegible] the delays of late have been numerous. In fact, as a railroad man put it, the Southern Pacific road has been in hard luck all winter. The movement of eastern overland freight now seems to be chiefly directed to western trunk lines, which, with five prominent railroads in it, headed by the Union Pacific, puts freight through on an average of sixteen to eighteen days. It is understood that the Sunset route can get freight through in nineteen days when the line is in good working condition, but that at the present they cannot beat twenty three days which is about the time of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the Denver and Rio Grande.

Freight Agent Laidy said of the Texas Pacific that everything was running as smooth as oil on his road, and freight offered [illegible] large.

There has been a slight falling off of tonnage to the Pacific coast on all roads during the past week though the shipments of dry goods have been nearly doubled.

A LETTER TO PRESIDENT ENDICOTT

NEW YORK, April 18.—A letter signed by a large number of stockholders of the Oregon and Transcontinental Company has been sent to President Endicott, asking him to furnish at once a full list and particulars concerning the company's liabilities. They further ask to be informed whether the directors have formed any plans for putting the indebtedness of the company into a more favorable form and for relieving it of some of its burdensome contracts. They express confidence that the company will come triumphantly out of its embarrassment but hope President Endicott will realize the gravity of the situation. They add: "We feel it is not receiving from the directors that careful attention which its exigencies demand and should you decide to maintain your present attitude toward the stockholders we should regard any subsequent misfortune which might befall the company as justly chargeable to you and your associates."

GOULD "ON HIS EAR."

NEW YORK, April 18.—[Special.]—The Times says: There were reports of serious disagreements between Messrs. Gould, Sage and Field yesterday. At a meeting high words and unpleasant accusations are said to have been exchanged, and that Mr. Gould had been seen to leave the meeting with a flushed countenance—a thing very unusual with him. The trouble is said to have been an accusation made by Gould against Sage, to the effect that the latter gentleman had been sending brokers out in every direction taking back puts which he had sold on Gould's order. Gould regarded this as a breach of faith on the part of Sage, and the result was a serious quarrel.

It is of no use for me to speak to you of the injustice done me. You have done your duty and all that you need not be ashamed of. ENGLAND

CONWAY COMING BACK TO AMERICA.

NEW YORK, April 18.—[Special.]—Moncure D. Conway, being interviewed by a London reporter to-day said he would soon return and make Washington his future home, and abandon lecturing altogether. "My experience has convinced me that a man with brains, ideas and ability for effective work can do more real good by using his talents in the United States than he can accomplish anywhere else. It is also impossible for any person who knows the Americans and America, to be contented with life anywhere outside of the United States. A majority of the English men who have visited the United States and become acquainted with the real character of the country look upon it with longing eyes as a promised land. I returned from my tour [illegible] around the world with such visions remaining of America that I find myself discontented here, and unable to resist the desire to return and remain there."

There are rumors of the early retirement of Parnell from the leadership of the Irish nationalist party. POLITICAL MATTERS.

The Race for the Republican Nomination—That Visit to Tilden—Notes.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—[Special.]—The action of the Harrisburg convention in instructing the Pennsylvania delegates to the republican national convention to vote for Blaine and Lincoln has been the principal topic of conversation among politicians here to-day. That it gives strength to a rapidly growing sentiment among republicans throughout the country in favor of Blaine as well as contributes the solid vote of the greatest republican state in the union for his nomination is fully recognized. It appears, however, that party organization in Pennsylvania remains largely in the hands of gentlemen who have hitherto been Mr. Blaine's opponents. This circumstance confuses many people who at a distance are unable to understand how the force of popular feeling has compelled a once intelligent machine to bow its head. That the instructions of the convention will be scrupulously obeyed, no one doubts. The convention's explicit mandates can not be disregarded by any delegates who have other personal preferences.

It is rumored that perfect felicity does not obtain between the president and Secretary Lincoln. It is said that the former thinks Mr. Lincoln is quietly opposing his (Arthur's) aspirations and is in league with Mr. Blaine, the hope of the latter being that, if he does not get the nomination, to make Mr. Lincoln the candidate. This story has been extensively circulated for several days past. Its absurdity is almost too manifest to need contradiction. In the first place Mr. Blaine is not seeking the nomination, and he has no intention of making a combination or agreement. He has never discussed the subject with Mr. Lincoln, and that gentleman has too much sense to propose much less form an alliance of the kind reported. There is excellent reason too, for believing that Mr. Lincoln considers himself a very promising candidate for the first place on the ticket and it is known that he does not desire the nomination for vice president.

President Arthur is reported as having said this morning that he was greatly pleased with the outlook in New York. He expects to have a large majority in the state convention and a majority of the delegates from New York to Chicago. He said that what gave him most pleasure, however, was the harmony and unanimity which has prevailed. His friends and the friends of Blaine and of Edmunds were on good terms, and whoever might receive the nomination would be sure of the support of the united party in the empire state.

THAT VISIT TO TILDEN

NEW YORK, April 17.—[Special.]—The Tribune says: "The California delegation's call on Tilden appears to have modeled its deportment after the manner of the swell, who asked the lady if she liked cheese. It began by asking Tilden if he would take the presidential nomination. It is said he replied with a decided negative. Then the delegation wanted to know whether his brother liked cheese—that is to say, if he would become a candidate. It does not appear that they asked Tilden what he would do if the convention nominated him against his will, though it intimated they were not in favor of his alleged purpose of writing a letter announcing his determination. Why the California delegation should have taken upon itself this solemn mission is not conspicuously apparent. Certainly the Pacific coast democrats have not manifested any consuming passion to have Tilden for candidate. At present the party in California is not in a condition to care much who is nominated for it is not only demoralized by the unnecessary extravagance of the extra legislative session, but the leaders in San Francisco are engaged in a furious fight over spoils, and it hardly cuts an important figure in national politics. [illegible] has had more than enough to do with its own [illegible]. The delegation however does not seem to have come away with any clearly defined ideas, being in this respect very much like the swell in the story."

MANITOBA'S GRIEVANCES

Strong Talk of Secession Prevails in the Legislature.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 18.—Norquay concluded his speech in the legislature yesterday. It is in contrast to the half hearted policy of [illegible]. He declared the determination of his government not longer to submit to discrimination by the federal authorities against Manitoba. He joined issue with the opposition and believed undivided action [illegible] will force justice from the dominion government. He proposed the expenditure by the province of about $200,000 more than the [illegible] revenue. The dominion must furnish funds for the administration of the affairs of the province, or the province must separate from the confederation, and control its own revenues. Previous to the confederation the province, with a 4 per cent tariff had ample funds. Now, with an average of over 25 per cent tariff which the people are burdened not enough is received from the federal authorities to pay the expenses of government. Referring to public lands he said when the province entered the confederation it did not agree that the lands should be appropriated by the dominion and consent has never since been given. He believed the justice of our cause was such that it would ultimately triumph.

A large number of farmers union meetings have been held in the province, showing that the people are as determined as ever. All endorsed the farmers' convention, and several declared secession the only panacea for the grievances.

A caucus of the entire legislature was held yesterday to consider the serious position of the province owing to the treatment of the dominion government and agree on steps to be taken to alleviate it. A committee was appointed to prepare an ultimatum.

THE CUBAN CRISIS

A Revolution of Serious Consequences to the United States Threatened.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—[Special.]—Advices recently received here from Cuba represent the condition of affairs on that unhappy island as extremely bad. The revolutionists have chosen an excellent time to begin operations. A financial panic prevails. Thousands of the poorer classes are out of employment and the government is unpopular with the people. [illegible] is reported to be [illegible] which in the end may be of the most serious consequence to the United States.

The action of the president in request of the advice and consent of the senate under the tenure of office act for the removal of Frank M. Wickers, collector of customs at Key West is unusual. [illegible] to remove a federal official is to maintain at all hazards [illegible] the confirmation of the latter's [illegible] change. The removal of Wickers was requested by the Spanish government and the president not being able to adjust his successor immediately he requested the senate to approve his order of dismissal. It is charged that Wickers not only permitted Aguero to fit out the filibustering expedition at Key West but took no steps to prevent the departure after he was warned by the government. He is also charged with having made two public speeches at Key West approving and encouraging the revolutionary party. It is further averred that two deputies are in sympathy with Aguero, and that those men fly the Cuban flag over their residences in Key West. The revolutionary movement is regarded by well informed people here as likely not to terminate disastrously for the Spanish crown, according to the equipment of the rebels. If the leaders of the movement have money to equip their recruits thousands will flock to their standard. If on the other hand, the revolutionists are inspired simply by sentiment, the authorities will probably be able to nip the movement in the bud and crush the leaders.

CONSPIRACY NOTES

MADRID, April 18.—The economic crisis in Cuba is the subject of serious consideration by the Spanish government.

KEY WEST, April 18.—The war ships Alliance and Tennessee, two revenue cutters and steam launches form a cordon around the island, to prevent the departure of any Cuban expedition.

THE POSTOFFICE APPROPRIATION BILL.

Its Provisions, as Amended by the Senate—A General Increase.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The principal changes made by the senate in the postoffice appropriation bill are that it increases the amount allowed for postmasters salaries from $11,000,000 to $11,500,000, for salaries of clerks in post offices from $4,175,000 to $4,500,000; for payment of letter carriers and expenses of the free delivery system from $3,500,000 to $4,000,000. The senate strikes out the clause providing that periodical publications other than daily newspapers, when delivered within the city of publication, shall be charged the same postage as if delivered elsewhere. For inland mail transportation the appropriation is increased from $11,700,000 to $12,750,000. The senate strikes out the clause directing the postmaster general to make a uniform reduction of 5 per cent on the compensation paid all railroads, and requiring land grant roads to carry [illegible] per cent less than [illegible]. The appropriation for railway [illegible] is increased from $1,600,000 to $1,625,000, and $[illegible] is appropriated for necessary and special facilities on trunk lines. STONEMAN'S EXTRA SESSION A FAILURE

Marked Advance in the Price of Beef—A Californian Shoots his Wife and Kills Himself—Notes.

An Embezzler Commits Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—W. B. Wardwell, bookkeeper for Newman & Levinson, dealers in fancy goods, was arrested this morning charged with embezzlement. Examination of his accounts showed that he had failed to account for about $400. He admitted the defalcation when arrested and was conveyed to prison. Half an hour after he was discovered by the jailer in the agonies of death, and before medical assistance could be called he expired. Although searched on being inducted into the prison for weapons and poison none were found, so that the cause of death is still a mystery. It is believed he had already swallowed poison before being arrested. Mr. Levinson said he had no intention of pushing the charge of embezzlement against Wardwell, as he had a good opinion of him and believed he could make good the amount. Wardwell leaves a wife and four children.

Light Salmon Catch

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—The Evening Post's Sacramento special says: The run of salmon in the Sacramento river and Suisun bay is lighter at present than at any corresponding season for years owing to high water and the muddy condition of the river. Fishermen and canners are deploring the light catch. Agents of the fish canneries are scattered along the line of the fishery, all eager to purchase. Only forty-five salmon were brought to the cannery in this city yesterday and to-day's lot is no larger. As the condition of the river is not likely to change soon, there being now higher water than at any previous time this season the prospect for a good salmon catch is not flattering.

The Extra Session a Failure.

[Special.]—The impression expressed some time ago that the extra legislative session would amount to nothing grows. It is now almost certain that none of the measures proposed by the governor for cinching the railroads will be enacted, and by hook and crook—chiefly the latter if reports may be trusted—the corporation interest is able to control a majority in both houses. It is now a question of how to end the session and so get decently out of an embarrassing fix. The cost of the extra session will be about $100,000.

Personal

[Special.]—Henry Simon of Seattle is in town, and will sail north by Sunday's steamer.

The wedding of Miss McMillan of this city and Mr. W. W. Belvin of Seattle last night was the most brilliant social event of the season. Nine hundred guests thronged the McMillan mansion on California street and the entertainment was on the most generous plan. The bridal party led the wedding breakfast at the Palace this morning. At 5 o'clock they will start for Mr. Belvin's family home at Danville, Va.

Advance in the Price of Beef.

Butchers report to-day a further sharp advance in beef. The reason assigned is the great decrease in cattle from exposure to heavy rains and late pasturage. Restaurants have increased their prices from 25 to 50 per cent according to cuts. The large advance has been the subject of much comment.

[Special.]—Queen [illegible] said while walking in Central Park: "How much this is like Paris [illegible] back there next year. If the [illegible] will go [illegible] I will take [illegible] if not I will go alone."

[illegible], April 18.—[illegible] about 10 o'clock [illegible] his wife was living in a family [illegible] when he walked up to her and muttering something fired a shot. She cried out, "Don't do that," here and seeing that he had missed her he put his arm around her neck, drew her towards him, and fired a shot into her head. He then turned the pistol on himself, and firing one shot squarely in the forehead fell over and died in fifteen minutes. The woman is not seriously injured, the shot having glanced and the doctors pronounce her in no immediate danger.

Will Oppose Sawyer's Decision.

NEVADA, April 18.—The supervisors to-day unanimously voted to appropriate $5000 from the general fund of the county to assist in paying the expense of an appeal to the supreme court from Judge Sawyer's decision in the case of Woodruff against the North Bloomfield and other hydraulic mining companies. Numerously signed petitions asking them to do so, had come in from all parts of the country.

THE EAST SIDE.

THE EAST PORTLAND POSTOFFICE

The Telegram having recently suggested that the postoffice be kept open until 9:30 or 10 o'clock at night and for a longer time on Sunday, Postmistress Cowgill was interviewed regarding the matter and made the following reply:

"I keep the office open daily from 7 o'clock A.M. until 8 P.M. This is one hour later than the closing of the Portland office. On Sunday the office is kept open one hour or more, closing at half past 1 o'clock. I am aware that many are dilatory on Sunday morning, and to accommodate such I have delayed opening the office until half past 9 o'clock but it is not reasonable or considerate to ask more of us on that day.

The following is the law which I am required by the department to observe: Sec. 525, United States Postal Laws and Regulations—Each postmaster shall keep the office open for the dispatch of business every day, except Sunday, during the usual hours of business in the place, and attend at such other hours as may be necessary to receive or dispatch mails.

I see no way to increase service until more help is authorized and conveniences provided for by the department and just so soon as the office advances another grade, then all expenses will be met and greater facilities and better accommodations will be provided for by the department."

ARM DISLOCATED

Little Hattie Moore, daughter of W. H. Moore, while sliding on the stoop balusters of their residence last evening fell and dislocated her arm at the elbow. Dr. Dav Raffety being called, reduced the dislocation and properly dressed the limb.

UNNECESSARY SCARE

Rosa Bates, aged about 13 years, a pupil in Miss Thomas' room at the Central school, was attacked with an epileptic fit about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and despite all the efforts of the teacher to allay the fears of the class, they became scared beyond control and stampeded from the room. One of the frightened youngsters yelled "Fire!" and two or three other rooms followed suit. The stairway, however, was sufficiently commodious to allow all to descend without injury to the open air, where they found relief. The wisdom of the teachers who refused to allow their pupils to join in the stampede was soon apparent. In consequence of the excitement the remainder of the morning session was suspended, and the cause of it all was finally brought to by the efforts of the principal and others, and conveyed to her home in Stephens' addition. It now appears she is subject to these attacks and will not be permitted to attend the school further.

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 19, 1884.

FEDERAL AND STATE DECISIONS.

In their new platform the democrats of this state say that they "look with alarm upon the unauthorized assumption of power and jurisdiction of United States courts, in interfering with officers collecting the revenue of the state of Oregon." A similar resolution was adopted by the democratic convention of Marion county. They both refer obviously to the late decision of the United States district court declaring the mortgage tax law of this state unconstitutional. As a statement of a general principle these resolutions are entirely proper and correct, and probably no one would subscribe to them more cheerfully, as such, than Judge Deady. The only difference would arise upon the application of the principle, or upon the proper exceptions to it. While, as to questions arising under the constitution and statutes of the various states, the federal courts have generally followed the decisions of the state courts, the United States supreme court has frequently refused to be bound by the decisions of the state courts, and has declared itself free to disregard them rather than "immolate truth, justice and the law," to quote the language of the court in a recent and celebrated case. The earlier decisions are very strong in favor of the theory that the United States court is absolutely bound to administer the law of the state in which it sits and to enforce the statutes of the state as construed and interpreted by the courts of the state. Thus it was said by Mr. Justice Johnson, in the case of "Shelby vs. Guy," "that the statute law of the states must furnish the rule of decision to this court, as far as they comport with the constitution of the United States in all cases arising within the respective states, is a position that no one doubts. Nor is it questionable that a fixed and received construction of their respective statute laws in their own courts makes, in fact, a part of the statute law of the country, however we may doubt the propriety of the construction." In the case of "Green vs. Neal," Mr. Justice McLean gives some very forcible and logical declarations on this subject, and holds that where a state court has reversed its own previous construction of a state statute, the United States court will also reverse its construction of the same statute. Mr. Justice Bradley, in "Town of South Ottawa vs. Perkins," said: "This court has always held that the laws of the states are to receive their authoritative construction from the state courts, except where the federal constitution and laws are concerned. This has been so often laid down as the proper rule, and is in itself so obviously correct that it is unnecessary to refer to the authorities." Otherwise, he says, "we should have the strange spectacle of two different tribunals having co-ordinate jurisdiction in the same state, differing as to the validity and existence of a statute of that state, without any power to arbitrate between them. In speaking, however, of their jurisdiction as being co-ordinate, it is only meant that one has no power to enforce its decisions upon the other. As a matter of propriety and right, the decision of the state courts on the question as to what are the laws of the state is binding upon those of the United States."

But in the case of Gelpcke v. City of Dubuque we find a wide departure from the principles announced by the earlier decisions, and what we should agree with our democratic friends in regarding as a dangerous innovation upon the former theories and practice of the court, if the exceptions were not of such a character as plainly to justify such a departure. In this case, in a long series of opinions, the supreme court of Iowa had confirmed the right of the legislature of that state to authorize municipal corporations to subscribe to railroads extending beyond their limits, and to issue bonds therefor; but the supreme court of Iowa had afterwards altered their opinion and had held that the issue of bonds was unauthorized. It was held by the supreme court of the United States that they would not follow the last decision, because, among other reasons, the bonds in question were issued or put on the market after the first decision of the Iowa court and before the last decision. In rendering the opinion of the court Mr. Justice Swayne said that while "it is the settled rule of this court in such cases to follow the decisions of the state courts," there have been heretofore, as doubtless there may be hereafter, many exceptional cases. "We shall never," he said, "immolate truth, justice and the law because a state tribunal has erected the altar and decreed the sacrifice." The fact that this innovation and departure were in the interests apparently of justice and right, as opposed to repudiation and spoliation, tends somewhat to disarm criticism. By going a step further and holding in the case of "Butz vs. the City of Muscatine" that it would disregard the construction of the state statute when such construction by the state court impairs the obligation of contracts entered into in view of that statute, the United States court may now be regarded as having established the rule that it will not follow a state court construction of a state statute if it thinks that construction is erroneous, and if it thinks injustice will arise therefrom.

This principle was followed by the United States supreme court in the case of "Cummings vs. National Bank," referred to by a correspondent in this paper a few days ago. It was shown in that case that throughout a large part of Ohio, perhaps all over the state, "the officers charged with the valuation of property for purposes of taxation adopted a settled rule or system by which real estate was estimated at one-third its true value, ordinary property about the same, and moneyed capital at three-fifths of its true value." But "the state board of equalization of bank shares increased the valuation of them to their full value." A bill was brought against the treasurer of the county to enjoin the collection of the tax wrongfully assessed on these shares, and the supreme court sustained the injunction, holding that the rule or principle of unequal valuation for purposes of taxation adopted by local boards of assessment is in conflict with the constitutional provision concerning uniformity of taxation and manifestly unjust to the owners of bank shares. The court also held that "when a rule or system of valuation for purposes of taxation is adopted by those whose duty it is to make the assessment, which is intended to operate unequally, in violation of the fundamental principles of the constitution, and when this principle is applied not solely to one individual, but to a large class of individuals or corporations, equity may properly interfere to restrain the operation of the unconstitutional exercise of power."

In speaking of the fact that as a rule the constitutional and statutory requirements respecting uniformity of taxation are habitually disregarded in the valuation of real estate the court said that whatever may be the cause of this undervaluation of land, "when it is recognized as the source of manifest injustice to a large class of property around which the constitution of the state has thrown the protection of uniformity of taxation and equity of burden, the rule must be held void, and the injustice produced under it must be remedied as far as the judicial power can give remedy." This is not the exact point upon which Judge Deady's opinion was based, although the discussion of it formed an interesting part of his opinion. It shows, however, that the supreme court of the United States will interfere where its powers are properly invoked to restrain the operation of such unconstitutional exercise of power as the enforcement of the mortgage tax law of this state would exert, through the unequal burden it would throw upon moneyed capital. But in another case, that of "Pelton v. National Bank," argued at the same time and involving some principles that are similar to those in "Cummings v. National Bank," the court, while forcibly declaring that there should be some remedy for the injustice, was careful to say it will not be in haste "to declare that an act of a state legislature, passed with the usual forms necessary to its validity, is void because that legislature has violated the constitution of the state. It has long been recognized in this court that the highest court of the state is the one to which such a question properly belongs; and though the courts of the United States, when exercising a concurrent jurisdiction, must decide it for themselves, if it has not previously been considered by the state court, it would be indelicate to make such a decision in advance of the state courts, unless the case imperatively demanded it." This question of delicacy is one which the federal courts should never be indifferent to, and if they are it will be proper to criticise them in conventions or through the press.

It should be observed in conclusion that Judge Deady expressly stated that "in deciding the question of the taxability of mortgages by the state" his court would "be governed by the decisions of the supreme court of the state. In Poppleton v. Yamhill County, 8 Or., 341, it was held that notes and mortgages are personal property, and, as such, subject to assessment and taxation. In Mumford v. Sewall, the court held that a mortgage upon real property in this state is taxable by the state without reference to the domicile of the owner, or the situs of the debt or note secured thereby. And this conclusion is accepted by this court as the law of this case. Nor do I wish to be understood as having any doubt about the soundness of the decision." We refer to this point particularly, because in a communication signed "Money," published in this paper yesterday, it was stated that "the residence question cannot be said to have been so decisively settled by Judge Deady as Judge Stearns appears to think. It did not occupy a prominent place in the argument before the court, and as it did not seem to be an essential factor in the mortgage tax law case, sufficient materials were not before the judge to enable him to give a final opinion." It was decisively settled that "a mortgage upon real property in this state is taxable by the state without reference to the domicile of the owner," because that has been declared by the state court to be the law, and it was accepted by Judge Deady as the law of this case.

A SENSIBLE ACTION.

It was excellent judgment on the part of General J. W. Nesmith of Polk to forbid the use of his name as a candidate for congress on the democratic ticket at The Dalles convention. He has paid back with interest the men in his own party who have been trying to "sit down" on him for years. In 1878 they gave him the nomination for fear that a "sack" would be thrown into the fight by Ben. Holladay to defeat anybody else; and he defeated Hiram Smith, who was handicapped with the resolution endorsing the career of Mr. Hippleton Myth—otherwise known as Mitchell. But in 1874, after he had carried his party to one victory, would the wire-pullers have permitted to let him have a renomination? By no means. They went away out into the sagebrush and rim rocks of Umatilla and found a man of whom more than half the state never heard before, although a reputable citizen and generally esteemed in his own county. By dint of running men over across the Umatilla border from Washington territory they succeeded in electing this dignified obscurity, but he died before taking his seat.

Now, finding that the republican party has a certain majority of at least 2000 in the state, and that a nomination on the democratic ticket for any state office means certain defeat, the ring managers have been very anxious to nominate Nesmith for congress. This, they claim, is to heal all sores and unite the democratic party within the state. If there had been nothing behind that, Nesmith would probably have accepted the nomination and made a vigorous canvass, with the certainty of defeat staring him in the face.

But the real object of the ring's anxiety to nominate Nesmith was this: Knowing it to be an impossibility to elect a supreme judge or congressman, they would nominate Nesmith to have him make a vigorous canvass in the hope of electing a legislature that would be democratic on joint ballot. And when it came to electing a United States senator, granting such a result as possible, then would begin the objections to Nesmith on account of his party record, which were never to be mentioned during the congressional campaign; and the vote of the democracy would be given to Whiteaker, Slater or some other highly respectable nonentity, whose party record would be satisfactory to the diplomats of Soap creek, and the bucolic statesmen of Siuslaw.

Nesmith knew a trick worth two of this, and declined to allow himself to be used as a cats-paw by the ringsters who have changed the democratic party into a hopeless minority in the past twelve years by official turpitude and stupid legislation. The ring managers have slaughtered a great many good men at one time and another during the past ten years, because they could not bind them down to do their dirty work. They have now got to the end of their rope and their influence is terminated. Before there can be another democratic victory in Oregon, there must first be quite a number of first-class funerals. In declining to allow these ringsters to use him for their selfish ends, Nesmith has done a good act and deserves well of the better element in his own party.

The nomination of ex-Governor Thayer for supreme judge and John Myers for congress will probably receive the full vote of their party, for they are good men. But it is evident they are in a hopeless minority, and will be defeated, as other equally good men before them have been defeated at the last two elections. Myers is best known where he resides as an honest man and a good neighbor; but outside of that there is not much to be said about him. The great mass of new comers into the state are unfamiliar with his many little acts of kindness to immigrants in early days, upon which is chiefly based his popularity, which is purely local. But good men have been defeated before at the polls, and are likely to be defeated again; and it is a strong man who carries the vote of his own party. Therefore Messrs. Thayer and Myers, both good men and true, will have no need for tears over the defeat that surely awaits them eight weeks hence.

It will be noted by readers that THE OREGONIAN contains every day a great mass of news that can be found in no other paper of the northwest. Our special telegraphic service furnishes a report that no other paper receives. Usually this special report contains the most interesting features of news. Other papers, which have only the associated press dispatches, do not supply the demand for news; and because THE OREGONIAN presents news in so much greater fullness and variety, it is more sought and read than all other daily papers in the northwest. People of Oregon and Washington know by experience that they can get all the news only through its columns. It is always ahead of all other journals in the range of its news, in the promptness with which it collects information from every quarter, and in the fullness of detail with which it presents it. And though many persons take other papers, no one can feel sure that he has had access to the news till he has seen THE OREGONIAN. The circulation of this paper is not due to the importunity of canvassers, but to the actual demand of the public for the best and most complete obtainable newspaper.

A writer in the Yamhill Reporter, who would do well in future to "be sure he is right" before he "goes ahead," says:

> When a free trader makes up his mind to fight protection, he uses any kind of argument that comes handy—often downright misrepresentation. So we see in THE OREGONIAN of the 12th I think, that the "people pay a tax of fifty millions on sugar." How much of this statement is true may be inferred from the fact that the whole cost of consumption of sugar in the United States amounts to but very little over that sum. But such is argument among free traders.

Treasury statistics for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1883, show that the value of dutiable sugar imported in the United States during the year was $91,948,869. Value of sugar imported free of duty, $7,377,526. Total value, $99,326,395. This was the invoice value, or value in the countries where the sugar was produced. The quantity of sugar subject to duty, imported during the year, stated in pounds, was 1,927,655,756, on which there was an average duty of 2.31 cents a pound, making a total sum of $44,517,851. Add duty collected on molasses, and the total is $46,686,318. For the year ended June 30, 1882, the total amount of duty collected on sugar and molasses was $5[illegible]993,273. Our statement, therefore, that the people of the United States "pay a tax of fifty millions on sugar" is nearly enough correct for every practical purpose.

The nomination of Hon. John Myers of Clackamas for congress by the democratic convention will be a surprise to many. Mr. Myers is, however, a man of fair abilities and good character. The nomination is a creditable one. But the honor would not have fallen on Mr. Myers had the prospect of democratic success been fair enough to bring the place-hunting politicians of the party to the front.

If the usual arguments against the taxation of credits are too full of subtleties for ordinary comprehension, here is one that can be understood, to-wit: Mr. Hugh Roger, agent and representative of a loan company which has two million dollars outstanding in the state, has received orders to call in the money as fast as the loans mature. He will proceed at once to execute his orders.

Portland is ahead of all the slow-going cities, east and west. Yet a great many citizens think it high time that the work of clearing the criminal classes out of the city government were begun.

JURY DUTY FOR WOMEN.

WOODBURN, April 11.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

As the day of woman's emancipation draws nigh the enemies of woman suffrage, failing in argument, do not hesitate to resort to vulgar tricks in order to render that measure odious or ridiculous.

Since the enfranchisement of women in Washington territory, certain sheriffs of the baser sort, that they might gratify their beastly instincts, have on several occasions impaneled women to serve as jurors. Occasionally there are peculiar cases in court in which women might with eminent fitness serve in this capacity. Ordinarily, however, the officer who would impanel women as jurors but proves himself devoid of the commonest instincts of manhood.

A few days since, THE OREGONIAN published a letter from some one signing himself "Common Sense," in which he expressed the opinion that if the women of Oregon were enfranchised, the male suffragists would by no means consent to do all the jury work, and that the constitution would be so amended as to throw a part of this burden on the women. In response to this threat I would say that the true men of Oregon will never so befoul their constitution. On the other hand, when the women of Oregon are endowed with their just rights—and that day is near at hand—all true men will extend to their mothers, their wives and their sisters the same courtesies which they rendered of yore.

COMMON DECENCY.

AN INDIAN DEAD.

UMATILLA, April 17, 1884.

Several days ago an Indian came in from across the river and stated that a siliicum had gone out two days before hunting horses and his horse had come home with the bridle broken and saddle turned, and thought he had met with some foul play. He wanted to get somebody to look him up. Now we can get all the Indians we want without looking them up much, and thought that we wouldn't look for him until Indians got scarcer and less of a drug on the market. To-day the Indian came back and wanted to get some boards to bury what was left of the missing man. They had found him on the range lying on his back with both hands gone from the wrist, the feet and entire front of the head gone and, as they claim, a knife cut in the side. They want us to believe that a white man murdered him, but if such is the case, he has gone to a great deal of unnecessary trouble in butchering him up in such a fashion. The most natural supposition is that the horse stumbled and threw Mr. Lo on his head killing him instantly, and the coyotes did the mutilation.

THE CŒUR D'ALENE MINES.

A Fair Statement of What May be Known Now.

PICTURES OF THE CAMPS IN THE GULCH.

The Story of the Widow Claim, and Somewhat of Life among the Miners—the Goers and Comers.

EAGLE, Idaho, April 14.

But the gold! Why don't you write about the gold?

This is what the reader wants to know when he picks up a letter from the mining region. And no one can blame his impatience; but when the very elect are puzzled to know whether or not there is gold in paying quantities in this camp, how can a newspaper correspondent do more than tell what he can see and know. Gold is not being handed around very freely up here, nor is any one showing up the particularly rich spots. One morning I went and washed out some gold, and when I told of it, some one said, "Oh, yes; of course! They knew you were coming, and so salted a panful." Now I don't believe any such thing—but how can I prove to the contrary. In like manner men told me of much taking out of placer gold from little holes I saw all along. One man said he had taken out $[illegible] from his claim. I do not believe this statement, yet how can I disprove or disprove anything? The men who own claims are getting to work as fast as they can, with the exception of those who own the Mother lode and some other lodes, and they seem to be waiting to sell. One man will tell you that this proves that they are afraid to brush open their claim, while another will tell you that it is the same old story—a poor man who discovers a quartz ledge must sell; he cannot afford to go down into the ground and develop the lodge. The fact is, the coming of winter shut down on the preliminary work of prospecting and this work of prospecting is precisely what is going on to-day. There are rumors of good rock in the ledges all around, but the camp has been in existence so long that there must be something besides rumor before capital will go in to any great extent. If this were the very first blush of discovery, rumor would tempt capital, but it is the fifth month of a well known camp. The fact that the snow has prevented ample demonstration will keep the people who have really taken claims, and those who got a glimpse at some placer gold last fall, from coming out or weakening in their faith, but it will not prevent those who went in to feed off the moneymakers from coming out and giving the camp a black eye at every station. Those fellows went in to live off the rich fools instead of the poor fools, and it transpired that the crop did not ripen so soon as they anticipated. This will serve to explain some and, indeed, most of the extremely depressing tales about the mines.

The population of the mining district has been overstated in nearly every account I have seen. It is true that there has been a very considerably greater number in camp than at present. Perhaps there has been something like a population of—or rather the presence of—something approaching 2500 men, but now it would hardly average 1500.

Eagle is the original and most thickly settled point, though it is four miles up the gulch from the north fork. Here the weary traveler comes out from the timber into a little bulging bottom land filled from one side to the other with log cabins, tents and a few frame houses. The town lot furor has led to the location of cabins on the mountain side, and, if the water continues to rise, these will be the best places to live; but no one seems to apprehend an overflow that will impair the town as [illegible]. The number of dwellings, stores and saloons in Eagle will reach 150, and the number of people here to-day, including those who come in nightly from their quartz prospecting trips, is about 800. In this immediate vicinity are eighteen or twenty placer claims, but few of which have been even stripped for working, though some drain ditches have been dug, and an encouraging number of colors found. Eagle is dull and listless—much more so than either of the other camps. The enterprising keno man works hard to create the impression that play is lively, as he stands in the door of his tented den and passes the word into the street in drawling tones—"King of clubs! seven of diamonds!" and so on through the evening, while the very "fly" young woman who deals stud-poker at the "Daisy" trifles idly with the pack for hours together without the exhilaration of a "sucker" and his money before her eyes. But few are flush enough to stand treat, and many are "croakers" as to the outcome of all this doubtful business. The two bankers go on with their banking, charging six dollars for a draft on Portland; and the merchants go on merchandizing, charging as much over and above a fair advance on cost of article and freight as they can get. The streets are filled with hard looking men and men who are ablaze with the romance and eagerness of the situation without being stamped with the penitentiary trademark. One fellow told me he had been in every mining camp and country for the past thirty years, including Siberia, and I found no difficulty in believing the Siberian portion of his story. While Eagle is now the dullest of all the camps, it would be the first to experience a reaction and become the liveliest.

A mile and a half up the gulch is Osborne's, with fifteen houses, seventy-five inhabitants and to all twenty-five placer and quartz mines in the immediate vicinity. The saloon here furnishes a resting place for the unfortunate traveler who must wade through the melting snow and mud to Murraysville and above. Here one may drink freely out of a tin cup hanging over a half-barrel of the best water in the world, or he may pay two bits and get whisky that would make a man set quartz in a woodpile and do worse than a Spokane counter.

At Murraysville, which is on both sides of the creek, as, indeed, are all the camps, there are sixty houses and tents and 350 men, with some thirty quartz and placer mines right around the "city." In fact, it is the general opinion of the old timers that this is the fat spot in the gulch and that the ground will all be worth washing—will be too valuable for building sites, but this period in Murraysville's history has not yet come. Here may be found the pleasant cabin of Judge Claggett, and here are also C. D. Garrison, D. D. Porter and other Blackfooters who can afford to wait and see what the summer and their claims have in store for them. They are all more than hopeful. They daily see the fellows on the "Widow" claim taking out gold, and would not sell their untouched patches of ground though all say that the success of the future will depend upon their quartz ledges. "Quartz! old man! It will be the quartz that will tell the story!" This statement may be heard a dozen times a day.

At Butte there are ten dwellings, seventy five people, twenty placer claims and about ten quartz ledges already taken.

Raven has twenty five cabins and tents, 150 residents and eighteen or twenty jealously guarded placer claims.

At Sullivan, the uppermost camp on the gulch, there are but three houses and ten people, ten placer claims and three quartz locations.

The side gulches show cabins dotted here and there, and Beaver gulch is beginning to fill up. The Jackass trail strikes through this gulch, and it will be the next one of the camps to feel the influx of people. The Murraysvillers flatter themselves that the Thompson's Falls trail will be graded and broadened into a road very soon, when it would lead the travel directly into their camp; but just now those who are in this valley of reputed gold and silver are apparently as securely hedged about by impassable mountains and streams as was Rasselas in that more happy but ultimately tiresome valley in which he wandered.

As I have before intimated in this series of letters, all placer hopes hang upon the widow claim. This is in Murraysville, just above Judge Claggett's cabin, and the nine fellows who stepped onto it last September, have been taking gold out ever since. How much no one knows, but certainly a fair daily average—perhaps five hundred a day frequently for several days together. Keeler, the foreman, has little to say, but it is well enough known that much of the gold which has been brought out of the camp has been purchased from some of the widow claim crowd. I saw a panful washed and saw the gold dotting the black sand which remained with it in the bottom of the pan. This man Keeler, with his companions, Davis, the two Brizers, the two Cromies, Skrksbery, Flanders and England, are doing most of their own work, and seem to care very little for the prospective litigation with which they are threatened. They relocated under the regulation of the district, which required the claimant to be on his ground on the 1st of April, and apparently they can hold against all the widows, real and bogus, in Christendom.

The story of this famous claim, as nearly as I could get the straight of it, is that old man Pritchard originally took it up for himself and a widow lady of Indiana, that Mrs. Edgleton, the widow who went up the river in Cleopatra state, with ten bargemen, claims to have advanced money to Pritchard, which gave her a right to half interest, and so made her the real widow. She says Pritchard asked her to marry him when he was on his way to marry the Indiana widow who is now Mrs. Pritchard. However it may be, and whoever may be the simon pure, all [illegible] widow, there is very little show to oust Keeler and his confreres. Even old man Pritchard's interests in the camp have lapsed by reason of his inattention to the well understood mining regulations of the camp. It appears that Keeler went to Murraysville last September, and, finding some men working this claim, asked them if they owned individual claims. They admitted that they did, whereupon he remarked: "Well, this is the claim that I want." The men, who were working for the first claimants, remonstrated, but did not resist, asking that they be given another day in which to clean up. This was granted and since then the gang in possession have been working. There are all sorts of stories of the amount of gold they have taken out. Some say every pocket in their clothes is filled with dust while every chink in the cabin has hidden treasure, but I think they are simply doing a nice, reliable business, which will probably make them all rich if they stick to it. They are a contented looking set, in striking contrast to the eager and uncertain looking crowd that come around daily to watch the operations. They have, in all, some fifty or sixty feet in length of sluiceboxes, as I guess at it, and have been to bedrock on a strip about thirty by fifty feet.

The Mother lode, concerning which so much has been written, is a mile and a half above Murraysville. It was located by three stumpy, gray-bearded old men, known as the "Three Orphans." The boss orphan is an Idaho miner, who looks like a picture in a comic almanac. They show their golden spattered quartz bowlder but do not disturb it. Perhaps it is wrong to call it a bowlder. They say, as old miners say, it is the outcropping of a rich lead. There is certainly a small fortune in sight; what more there may be the man who buys will find out. The orphans claim to have been offered $[illegible] for the claim, which they also claim to have refused.

Other claims which came prominently before my notice were the Out Alas, which is being opened up by Sweeney of Spokane Falls; the Butte claim, located by Pat Flynn, Barney Kalderbush and T. R. Bentley; the Bob Ingersoll lode, owned by Wm. H. Olavett, F. P. Curry and T. Kennedy, said to be six feet body ore; the Ives claim, and the Zone claim, located by John H. Miller. The last named prospects well.

What may come of all these no one can tell. So far it is neither a fraud nor a bonanza. This is a free country, and the new diggin's are [illegible] feel it, but those now making a good living elsewhere will do well to let well enough alone, and to let the mines alone. I know of one very instance where a man sold his farm in Illinois to come here, and got so badly "busted" that he cannot get home to his wife, and I believe there are more such instances than there are of men who, like those in the widow claim, came with nothing and will carry out fortunes. Many are going in and will not be persuaded not to go. Of these, many will do as well in the mines as anywhere else. It is a last chance with some, and a chance with others, which they can well afford to take. With all it is a chance. SAXON.

DRIVING FAST OVER A BRIDGE.

A Police Court Case Reported in the Heavy English Style.

An adjourned session of the police court began at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Police Judge Moreland on the bench. Mr. City Attorney Ralph M. Dement addressed the court, calling the case of the city against Ves B. DeLashmutt, charged with driving over a bridge faster than a walk.

Mr. O. Frank Paxton, appearing as counsel for the defense, replying, said: "May it please the court, I did not know that the case against Mr. DeLashmutt was to be called. Neither did Mr. DeLashmutt. Consequently he is not here. But Mr. H. Terwilliger is here charged with the same offense, and we are ready for his trial."

Mr. Ralph Dement, after a short consultation with the witness, said: We agree to proceed with the trial of Mr. Terwilliger in the place of Mr. DeLashmutt. I suppose the same jury will answer.

Mr. Frank Paxton—Oh, certainly.

Mr. Ralph Dement then stated to the jury the city ordinance under which the complaint was made.

Mr. Frank Paxton, calling the attention of the jury—This is just the point, gentlemen. The complaint charges that the defendant is guilty of driving over a bridge faster than a walk. Now, we claim that this is not a bridge, but simply a street, planked all the way, and raised upon posts in some places over natural depressions in the surface of the ground. Consequently, anyone has a right to drive there at any pace not exceeding six miles an hour.

Deputy Superintendent of Streets W. L. Brooke, the first witness called, stated that he made the complaint against the gentlemen who had been arrested. He saw them driving as they pleased over the bridge and he took the names of a few.

Mr. Ralph Dement—Please state to the court what you mean by these gentlemen driving as they pleased.

Mr. Frank Paxton, interrupting the witness—May it please your honor, we are trying but one of these gentlemen, and I respectfully submit that it would be better to confine the testimony to this particular defendant, Mr. Terwilliger, alone.

Mr. Ralph Dement—We will get to that after awhile.

The deputy street superintendent, who stated that he had made such complaints before, then explained the situation of the place where the offense is alleged to have been committed, it being what is known as the North Front street bridge.

Mr. Frank Paxton—Is this defendant one of those against whom you made complaint?

The witness—I think so.

Mr. Frank Paxton—Can you positively identify him as such person?

The witness—No, sir; I would not be positive, although I think he is.

Mr. Ralph Dement, after talking in an aside with the witness for a few minutes, said—May it please your honor, it is useless to further detain this court and this jury upon this case. The witness' inability to establish the identity of the defendant leaves me in a predicament. There is but one thing I can do, not to further take up the time of this court and the gentlemen present, and that is to move to dismiss this case, and ask for an early trial in the case against DeLashmutt.

Mr. Frank Paxton—May I ask the indulgence of the court. The coming Sunday bids fair to be a pleasant one, and I would like to reach the fishing grounds by Saturday night.

Mr. Judge Moreland—As I may want to go fishing myself, I will set the DeLashmutt case for trial on Monday.

Mr. Ralph Dement, as the court retired from the bench—I think perhaps I had better go fishing myself.

BRIEF MENTION.

The steamship State of California arrived at her dock at 7 o'clock last evening.

The Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church will give a social entertainment and supper next Wednesday night.

The jury in the case of Jim Harris, the river pirate, disagreed and were discharged. They stood eleven for acquittal and one for conviction.

The names of Dr. Caples and O. Rummell of this county were accidentally omitted in the report of the committee on credentials, as published in THE OREGONIAN. Every man of Multnomah's delegation of thirteen was present at the democratic state convention and voted at every ballot.

The business of the postoffice department in this city is steadily increasing. The number of pieces of mail matter delivered and collected by the letter carriers here during the month of March, 1883, was 148,151. During March last the number was 175,361, an increase of over 17 per cent.

An attache of the sheriff's office started out a day or two since to serve an injunction on the captain of the Lurline to restrain him from landing at Albina. For some unexplained reason the papers were not served. Just how a steamboat can be prevented from landing at any town on the river it is difficult to imagine.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW MARKET THEATER.—Miss Nora McAllister is without doubt a great emotional actress. Her representation of "Frou Frou," with all the varied and conflicting emotions of the part, was perfect. There has been no actress here so good since Katherine Rogers. The remainder of the troupe improve with acquaintance. Sartorys and De Valreas, entrusted to Messrs. Butler and Fitzgerald, were in good hands, and the Baroness de Cambri of Mrs. J. W. Fox was also an excellent characterization. Louise, the sister, is a part that in some places needs strength and force fully equal to that expected of "Gilberte," and its representation by Miss Emma Lathrop was fully up to the standard. "Frou Frou" will be repeated at the matinee this afternoon and "Camille" will be presented in the evening.

THE TIVOLI.—The charming opera, "Chimes of Normandy," drew a full house at the Tivoli again last evening. The singers have settled into their places, and the brilliant success of the opening night seemed to have incited them to extra efforts. The singing was, if possible, an improvement on that of the previous evening, and was received with generous applause.

PERSONAL.

Rev. E. Trumbull Lee of the Calvary Presbyterian church will be married soon to Miss Josie Skinner, sister of Mrs. Washam.

J. C. M. Cure of the firm of Sisson & Crocker, railroad contractors, San Francisco, is in the city en route to Coeur d'Alene to take in the situation there.

Honest dealing and fair competition is the rule of all honorable business men. The makers of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder do not advertise their own productions by crying down those of others. They say that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder holds position in the estimation of thousands as the purest, strongest and most reliable. Try it.

NEW COMERS.

Immigrants, here is the genuine business for you. The work of laying the foundation for a large manufacturing town in the midst of a fertile country has been going on for nearly a year at La Camas, in Clarke county, W. T. Not on paper merely, but on the ground with money. Vast dams have been constructed, great engineering difficulties overcome and an immense water power improved at a cost which insures permanence. Manufacturing companies are being organized to use the power developed. Lumber mills are already in operation, and work has been commenced by the Columbia River Paper Company on large paper mills. These will give employment to hundreds of men. Besides the business in sight from the expenditure of many thousands of dollars, there is a large and fine agricultural country naturally tributary thereto. The town has not been advertised or boomed, and therefore while it has plenty of laboring men has comparatively no one to do its business. It needs a merchant, a druggist, a doctor, a real estate agent, a blacksmith, a butcher, a harness maker, a tinsmith, a shoemaker, a livery stable—in fact, there is the best possible location for any business man in the retail line.

Market gardeners can obtain improved land and raise a profitable crop the first year. A milk route could be established, and would be profitable.

WATKINDS, ETCETERA.

Al Zieber returned from The Dalles yesterday by boat. When he reached the Upper Cascades whom should he see stepping off the boat but Bill Watkinds, acting chief of police of Portland. Zieber very much surprised, exclaimed:

"Hello, Bill, where did you get on?"

"Hem—ahem—I got on at Hood river," replied Truthful William.

"Well, Bill, I was standing on deck when we passed Hood river, and the boat did not land there. If you got on there you must have swam out," ejaculated Zieber.

The fact is, Bill left here by a freight train Thursday night for The Dalles, reaching there early yesterday morning. It is said that he was to consult with Sears, who was staying at the Umatilla house, and had a conference with him, and left for Portland by the boat. His object in seeing Sears was, so report goes, to make sure of that gentleman's support of himself and to secure a pledge from him to favor reduction in liquor licenses. Friends of Sears do not suppose that the second object was or can be attained. Sears did not return with the other delegates by yesterday afternoon's train, nor at [illegible] by boat.

Bill was wagging his loose tongue around the streets last night, and said that he had gone to Salem and secured an affidavit from one Foss that he (Foss) had stuffed the ballot box in the Third ward, and thus secured the election of Sears to the council until last June, and that he would hold this affidavit over Sears' head as a menace to prevent him from voting for any person appointed chief of police. Bill stated at one time since that the ballot box was stuffed, and that he attracted the attention of those present while Foss did it. It was probably told this story till he actually believes it, and being a crank on the subject of affidavits, he really imagines that he has one from Foss in his barrel.

CHINESE TRAFFIC IN WOMEN.

The three Chinamen arrested on the steamer for San Francisco Wednesday night were arraigned before United States Commissioner Paul R. Deady yesterday, charged with importing eleven Chinese women into this country from Victoria for purposes of prostitution. They waived examination and were held to answer in $2000 each. The women were held as witnesses in the sum of $[illegible] each. Among the papers found on the persons of the Chinamen was one in the nature of a contract, which was translated by a Chinese professor. The translation, which is made in a very "florid" style of English, purports that the contract was made by one Sing Jim to deliver to Long Wo a servant girl aged 11 years. The receipt of $360 for food and body price is acknowledged, and it is stipulated that Long Wo can give the girl any name he pleases, and that when she is of age he "may transfer any case, on deep water or high mountains life, please heaven." The meaning of this extract is rather dubious, but there is something poetical about it, probably. Another document translated by the same professor is evidently an itemized bill of expenses incurred in connection with the bringing of the women here. Following are a number of the items:

Lawyer to make paper	$20 00
Passage to Victoria	72 45
Telegraph	2 75
Sacrifice	1 25
Luck money	2 10
For Ah Fan, body and life	160 10

Port Townsend expenses	160 00

Expenses at Port Townsend	40 00

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

In the telegraph report of the state democratic convention, published yesterday, one line in the sixth plank dropped out accidentally. Following the word "people" there was "for the benefit of any other class of people." The resolution with the omission reads:

Sixth—That the power conferred by the federal constitution upon congress to enact tariff laws was given for the sole and exclusive purpose of deriving revenues for the support of such government, and that the enacting of any tariff law for any other purpose, such as taxation of one class of people for the benefit of any other class of people, is as entirely unwarranted by the constitution, as it is repugnant to justice and inimical to the general welfare, and we therefore favor a tariff for revenue, limited to the necessities of government economically administered, and a gradual but persistent reduction of the existing protective duties.

THIS MORNING'S FIRE.

At 1:30 this morning an alarm was turned in from box 9 for a fire at Buck's bakery, corner of North F and Eighth streets. The building belongs to J. Mergens, and is the same one in which a fire occurred at 2:30 on the morning of Friday the 11th inst. The fire is supposed to have caught in the bake oven, which adjoins a building and ran up between the wall and the plastering. The furniture of one of the rooms upstairs was badly damaged before the fire was put out. The loss will be about $25, fully covered by insurance in the Oakland Home insurance company.

A BOON TO LADIES.

Cause of the Dullness in the Dry Goods Trade.

A general complaint is being made by the dry goods merchants that the usual amount of dress goods by the yard are not being sold this season. And why? Because people are going to Mozart's and get a suit made and buy a ready made, perfect fitting and stylish suit for less money than you can buy the material and trimmings for. Just figure a little, and you will see how much it is to your advantage to buy your dresses from Mozart.

Now, you buy your material and trimmings, paying the retailer the big profit, next you hire the garment made up, and how much have you expended? Say $17. Well, the same dress could be obtained at Mozart's, 70 Morrison street, for about $12. The reason is simply this: Mozart buys the material and trimmings in large quantities, has superior facilities for making up suits, and is contented merely with the profit on the raw material he is selling. Therefore, avail yourself of the advantages offered by Mozart. Get and see styles and prices in ready made suits—in silks, black and colored, summer silks and stylish woolens now ready at Mozart's cloak and suit house, 70 Morrison street.

FREIGHTS—Our market presents nothing of new interest. At San Francisco handy iron has been closed at 45s for September-October. As far as can be learned local shippers have done nothing for next season. The experience of the present harvest year was such as to cause general uncertainty, and operators decline to do anything until the way appears clear.

WHEAT—The local market presents nothing of new interest, and there is no buying reported in this market. Foreign markets appear to be gathering for an advance, but this is deemed uncertain. At almost any other time in the history of the grain trade an advance would be confidently relied upon, but in the face of the turn affairs have taken this season operators are slow to believe in better things. The reduction in stocks at the selling ports and prospect of shortened receipts from many of the producing countries, gives rise to the hope that America will be called upon for supplies. Summing up an article on the wheat production and trade of the world, the New York Mail and Express says:

> A resume of the present general position and promise of the wheat trade points unmistakably to a season of moderate prices. Stocks are liberal; crop prospects are decidedly encouraging, and in view of the position and temper of the British grain trade and the general crop promises of 1884, the logic of probability seems to indicate that, setting aside the Russian surplus for possible deficiencies in, or importations into western continental Europe, it should not be much of an effort on the part of the continent of America, including Canada, South America, India and the Australian colonies, whose aggregate, exportable surplus for 1884 will probably amount to not less than 220,000,000 bushels, to provide England's supplementary quota for bread and reserves, and the scattering demand from China, the West Indies, etc., and any probable extra contingencies for western continental Europe.

FLOUR—The Oregon carried out 5882 bbls, 5000 of which goes into ship for Liverpool. Low values in California markets lessens shipments hence, but as millers are reducing production the influence is less weak.

POTATOES—The market rules firm under lessened stocks and improved selling markets.

EGGS—Dealers are lowering stocks and the undertone shows some improvement. Without unexpected large arrivals a better market is quite certain.

The Merchandise Markets.

There is a marked increase in the amount of merchandise being received by rail. In part this is due to the arrival of shipments that have been delayed in transportation. Some merchants yet have freight out 30 days or more and suffer annoyance as well a loss by the delay. From San Francisco there is a steady movement of undiminished proportions. Of staple groceries arrivals are large and include lots for Montana points. Values generally are without change. Sugars are in good movement with more going through in sacks to Montana. Values are thought to be as low as consistent with production and refining. Coffee prices are not affected by low values at the east, but shipments in that direction are cut off. Chinas continues in fair receipt by steamer notwithstanding the stocks here and to arrive. Hawaiian is firm at full prices. Canned goods show full strength all along the line. Coal oil is weak and in lessened trading. Grain bags present no new feature. Salmon is attracting little attention. To date shipments of new amount to 130 cases against 140 cases last season. Far less is being canned than usual for April, and there is less fish in the river. Even the market stands are not fully supplied. The "royal chinook" is conspicuous by an almost total scarcity at the stands. Shipments of fresh in ice eastward are large. It continues a difficult matter to obtain data regarding the movements of canners but it is certain that the month will witness a small output. Late arrivals have brought increased quantities of canners' stock. Salt is firm and higher.

BEANS—Values quoted down in sympathy with San Francisco. Small whites, 4½c; bayos, pinks and butter, 5c.

BREAD, ETC.—We quote: ship 3½c, pilot 3¾c, extra pilot 4½c, soda crackers 5@6c, other crackers cakes and biscuits, 6@13½c as to kind.

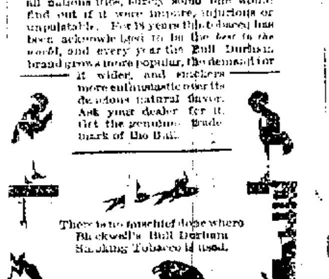
The best evidence in the world of the purity and excellence of Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is found in the fact that the fame of this tobacco increases from year to year. This could not be the case if it were merely "gotten up to sell," or had any dubious or dangerous ingredients in it. Among millions of users of all nations there surely some one would find out if it were impure, injurious or unpalatable. For 18 years this tobacco has been acknowledged to be the best in the world, and every year the Bull Durham brand grows more popular, the demand for it wider, and smokers more enthusiastic over its delicious natural flavor. Ask your dealer for it. Get the genuine. Trade mark of the Bull.



There is no mischief done where Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is used.

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS, DISORDERED LIVER, and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

IS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN ON the Pacific coast in the treatment of all Chronic and Difficult Diseases of the Sexual Organs.

He will guarantee to cure any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease, if the patient follows his advice and treatment.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH, such as Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by a majority of the Medical Profession.

Persons afflicted by any form of sexual disease or weakness often delay in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitution becomes corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence. Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances. Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Liver and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail, if they are curable, and if not, he will tell you so.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Offices: Nos. 132 and 134 Third street, corner of Alder, opposite Masonic Hall.

Office Hours: 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.

All letters of professional business must be addressed to Dr. Paul M. Brenan & Co., Portland, Or.

CANCER.

The experience in the treatment of Cancer with Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) would seem to warrant us in saying that it will cure this much dreaded scourge. Persons so afflicted are invited to correspond with us.

I believe Swift's Specific has saved my life. I had virtually lost use of the upper part of my body and my arms from the poisonous effects of a large cancer on my neck, from which I had suffered for 25 years. S. S. S. has relieved me of all soreness, and the poison is being forced out of my system. I will soon be well.

W. R. ROBISON, Davisboro, Ga.

Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a woman afflicted with a cancer on her shoulder, at least 5 inches in circumference, angry, painful and giving the patient no rest day or night for 6 months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific for her. She has taken 5 bottles, and the ulcer is entirely healed up, only a very small scab remaining, and her health is better than for 5 years past; seems to be perfectly cured.

REV. JESSE H. CAMPBELL, Columbus, Ga.

I have seen remarkable results from use of Swift's Specific on a cancer. A young man near here has been afflicted 5 years with the most angry looking, eating cancer I ever saw, and was nearly dead. The first bottle made a wonderful change, and after 5 bottles were taken, he is nearly or quite well. It is truly wonderful.

M. F. CRUMLEY, M. D., Oglethorpe, Ga.

UNDER LIP AND INSIDE OF CHEEK EATEN AWAY BY CANCER.

My father had an eating cancer for several years, which had eaten away his under lip and the inside of his cheek down to the bottom of his gums. We got some of Swift's Specific and gave him, and the effect has been wonderful—almost miraculous. The sores are all healed and he is perfectly well. Every one here said it was only a question of time about his death, and his cure has created the greatest excitement in this part of the country. I hope you will publish about my father's cure, and send me some circulars to give to my friends and the afflicted. W. M. B. LATHROP.
